The Finance Minister (Fin Min) carries a small leather suitcase each year to parliament with the most important document for the country – its' budget. Ironically the budget erpetually pays little attention to the second largest employment source in the country – artisans. In homage to these facts, we have created a finely crafted small leather suitcase lined with gajji silk, intricately block printed in natural dyes by the Ajrakh artisans from near Bhuj in Kutch. This impressive accessory is a reminder to the Finance Minister to “appreciate the artisans”.

JEWELLERY

'Meena' meaning heaven in Persian, refers to the celestial colours of enameling. Invented by Iranian craftsmen, this art spread through Mongols to India. Created on pure metals, copper and silver in the ancient hot enamelling Cloisonne technique, it is now the design space for AnanTaya's charms, pendants and bracelets.

Devanagari Charms denoting individual 'letters' of the phonetic Devanagari script are crafted in brilliant jewel like Meenakari colours. A series of charms of popular motifs like mangoes, lock and key, elephants and a 'hawai chappal' or slipper, accompany the alphabets to complete a bracelet or necklace. AnanTaya offers silver bracelets that link up to become necklaces for your customized collection of charms starting with your initials.
